

The Daily DubLSHOT is a quick approximate ten minute program that airs daily. It features “Songs That Are So Good They Got Recorded More Than One Time.” Little Eva and Grand Funk both went to #1 with “Loco-Motion” and the two different versions sound great back to back, it’s all about great music. It’s not just about oldies, how about Wings and Guns N’ Roses both doing “Live And Let Die,” Supertramp and Goo Goo Dolls both doing “Give A Little Bit,” or Led Zeppelin and Ann Wilson both doing “Immigrant Song.” The program is fun, engaging, entertaining and provides a bit of history at the same time. And there are literally thousands of great covers songs, not all became big hits, but the program is a nice, special and short break from regular programming to add depth to your station. Listeners will love the contrast between the songs - the show creates buzz!

We cross promote the Daily DubLSHOTS in a Podcast to engage listeners on Social Media, Facebook & Twitter @DubLSHOTS.

James Durkee started his radio career when he was born to legendary broadcast syndicator Ray Durkee. As a teenager he dubbed tapes and handled shipping for his syndicated radio show 'Sunday at the Memories.' He began his own on air work at 19 working for KAZY 106.7 FM in Denver for five years and later working for KBPI 105.9 FM in Denver for another five years. In 1991 he joined Tele-communications Inc. (Comcast) where he developed applications for high speed internet and the World Wide Web. In 2015 he began to archive and digitize all of the 'Sunday at the Memories' master tapes from syndication to make available on the World Wide Web and put the show back on the air in Denver every Sunday for an encore broadcast on Cruisin' 950 AM, the oldies station in town. In 2016 the show moved to EZ 1430 AM after Cruisin was bought by Entercom. During this time he developed his idea for DubLSHOTS.

The Daily DubLShots are currently airing in Alliance, NE on KCOW and in New Albany, MS on WNAU. Let's get them on your station too! Here's what others are saying:

KCOW Program Directory Jason Wentworth says:

"We are totally digging the Daily DubLShot feature! We're airing weekdays to lead off our 9:00am hour and it's a great attention-getter. The picks for the DubLShots are things listeners would be really be familiar with ("Mony Mony", "Pretty Woman" etc) along with some sleepers thrown in to keep things interesting. We're a 70s/80s/90s classic hits station and the Daily DubLShot gives us new looks at classic songs. It's awesome!"

Durkee's former Program Director at KBPI in Denver Bill Betts says:

"Some thoughts on the show, love the name, "Durkman" sounds cool. Love the processing on your voice. Along with the delivery the first things that come to mind are Smooth, Cool, Hip. On the delivery, it is direct. Not in a hurry but not wandering around either. Very, very good.

I really like the program and think you do an excellent job. Creative, direct and as I said... Smooth, Cool and Hip. Good Job."

The Daily DubLShot is available for free to stations and includes up to 60 seconds of advertising in each daily program to keep it free, so let's get your station signed up now!
